
Quality Policy

At Irish Oxygen Company Limited we believe in delivering only the best products to our customer every time.

We place our customer's needs first. Customer satisfaction is the most important goal in our operation and is second only to matters of safety.

It is our policy to regularly deliver within hours of receiving orders and customers should rarely wait more than a day. We try to understand our customer's operations and needs and forecast when they will need supplies and arrange to call them before they call us.

All our staff are trained to believe that the customer's needs come first before all other considerations except safety.

We operate a Quality System which conforms to the requirements of EN 9001: 2008.
